

For Immediate Release
May 6, 2008

Winners of Heritage College Creativity Contest 2008

Congratulations to the winners of the 2008 Heritage College Creativity Contest. Shawn Arnold received the Grand Prize for “May It Be.” The Prose Prize went to co-winners Daniel Marchand for “The Origins of the Deathless Red” and Colin Sanipe for “Punishment.” Sébastien Préfontaine won the Poetry Prize for “The Brazeled Beast of Bertram.”

This year's Frank Schreiner Prize (for Wit) was won by Louise Brittain Boisvert for “Red Stilettos.” Adrian Larocque received the Visual Arts Prize for “I Love You.” Special thanks are due to Natasha A. Sivret for the cover artwork, “Turtle,” and to Robin Bastien for the overall cover design.

This marks the thirty-second anniversary of the Creativity Contest at Heritage College as a forum for featuring the talents of its students. The prize-winning entries and those meriting “honourable mention” appear in the annual Heritage College Creative Arts Journal, The First Edition. Entries included works of short fiction, poetry, visual arts and even screenwriting.

- 30 -

Issued by: Linda McGuirl, Communications Officer, ext. 1071

For more information: Tim Fairbairn, English Department, ext. 2163