Heritage College Visual Arts students commemorate Dawson tragedy

The Heritage College Visual Arts program coordinator, Uta Riccius, and Visual Arts teacher, Linda Sanborn, organized a very special project for their students to commemorate the recent tragedy at Dawson College in Montreal. The following students from both the first and second years of the Visual Arts program participated in this unique project to show support for their fellow students at Dawson College:

Eric Bent	Courtney Gagné	Adam Lukach
Tiffany Boudrias	Hannah Gorham-Smith	Laurier Mantil
Crystal Bowie	Shawna Guy	Caroline Marcoux
Kodi Cannon	Meredith Jay	Ayrian McCredie
Sandy Carter	Sarah Joyce	Robin Romer
Courtney Clarke	Mélina Kaing	Maxim Salmela
Emily Crouch	Michael Fayez Kass	Elke Schorer
Meagan Derouin	Youssef	Tara Shotton
Angela Desjardins	Kinani Danièle Kayijuka	Vanessa Sinden-Lafèche
Adair Donohue-Miller	Dylan-Simon Lavoie-	Jennifer Singh Bamra
Jennifer Froés Moreira	Whittall	Megan Wallace

Everyone is invited to view this extraordinary collection of artists' cards, called "Spectralinear," which comprises individual artistic expressions from each of the contributing Visual Arts students. It is currently on display in the showcases across from the entrance to the College cafeteria and it will be there until the end of next week. Afterwards, it will be sent to Dawson College as a very tangible expression of support from our students to theirs.

Congratulations and kudos to everyone who participated in this marvelous project!
